Tejo Wines

Distinctively fresh; impressive quality; favourable pricing

We are the Tejo Region, a winemaking community based each side of this great Portuguese river, and covering 80 kilometres upstream from Lisbon. The Tejo river bestows a favourable micro-climate on our Region with cool breezes and dense morning mists, generating the distinctive freshness that characterises our wines.

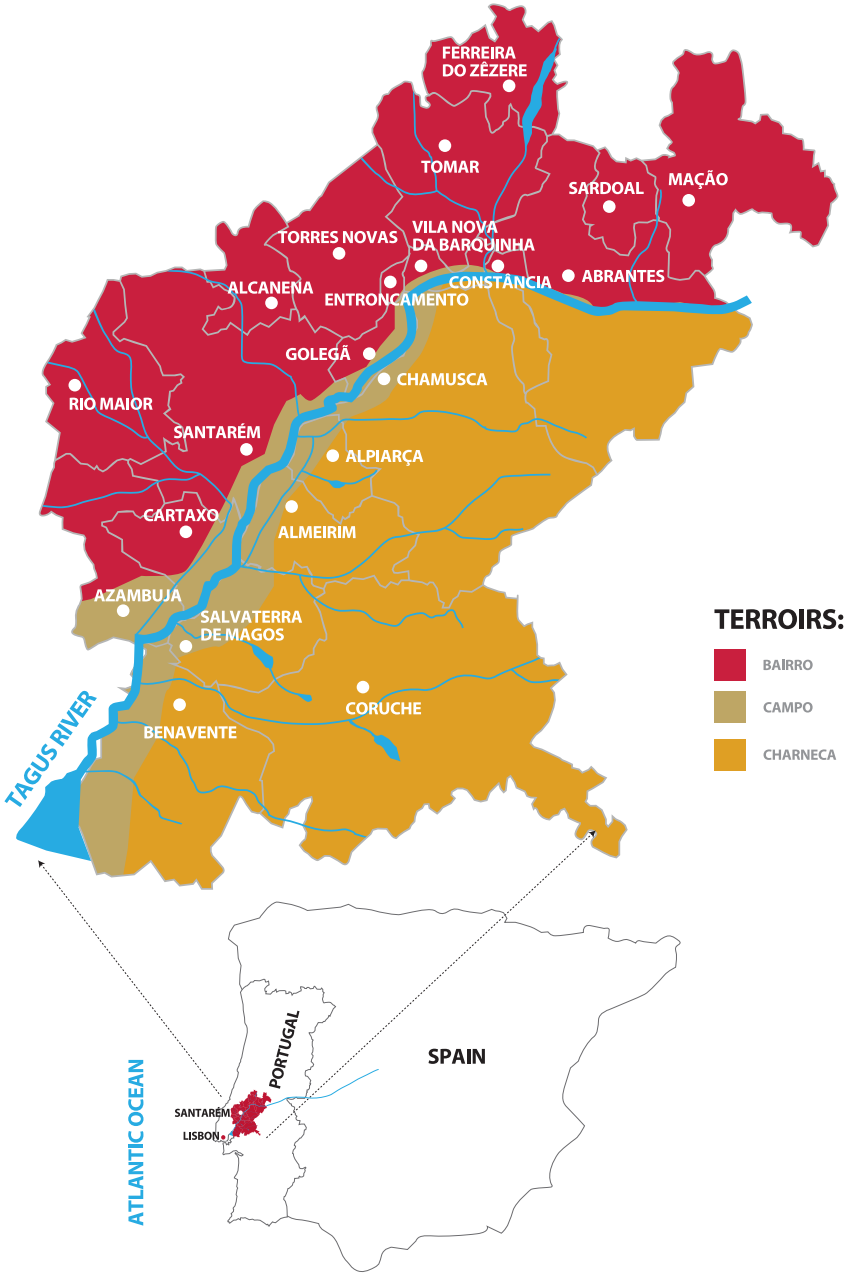

The Tejo Region community is over 80 winemakers – multi-generation family businesses, forward-looking co-operatives, and larger brand-focused companies. Our shared belief and skill is creating distinctive wine styles from the intriguing mix of indigenous grapes and international varietals across our 13,000 hectares of vineyards.

Our priority over the last 10 years has been higher quality and clearly distinctive wines, now regularly recognised by international commentators and competitions. We also focus rigorously on ensuring outstanding value at all price points, coupled with pro-active support for our export customers with in-county teams in key markets.

Be surprised by Tejo wines. Distinctive styles, beguilingly fresh, increasingly well-regarded winemaking at all price-points, consistently good value.

White grapes

Tejo's white grapes produce succulent wines, distinctively fresh and balanced acidity.

FERNÃO PIRES: A versatile varietal that is found more widely in southern Portugal. Fernão Pires (also known as Maria Gomes in northern Portugal) can be picked at various ripeness levels to achieve different flavour profiles - from bright citrus, to luscious peach, to fragrant tropical fruits. This varietal flourishes in the warmer climate in Tejo and exhibits moderate acidity and body.

ARINTO: Grown throughout Portugal, this grape produces vibrant wines with flavours of orchard fruits and citrus, best enjoyed young. In warmer regions like Tejo, the grape retains it's high natural acidity and excels as both a single-varietal wine and in a blend.

ALVARINHO: One of Portugal's most widely planted and better-known white varietals. The wines are full of character, deep in body and with zesty acidity. The best examples are highly aromatic with notes of peach, passion fruit, orange blossom and lychee.

VERDELHO: This varietal is highly regarded for its ability to retain a high natural acidity when grown in warm climates. Extremely fragrant, this grape showcases notes of mango, papaya and citrus, as well as fresh herbs and stony minerality.

Red grapes

Tejo's red grapes produce wines which are rich and flavourful, highly approachable and, for much of the production, very age worthy.

CASTELÃO: This varietal is found predominantly in southern Portugal, and prospers in the poor, sandy-clay soils found throughout the Tejo region. The grape has the ability to produce well-structured wines with vibrant acidity and an endearing rustic quality with notes of plum, red currants and meaty aromas.

TOURIGA NACIONAL: As Portugal's best-known varietal, this native grape is comfortable in the Tejo region. Produces wines with high tannins, full body and flavours of dark berries, plums and purple flowers. Another grape which enjoys Tejo's warm climate.

TRINCADEIRA: This hot weather-loving varietal flourishes in the Tejo region where the growing season is longer, allowing the grape to achieve full ripeness. Although difficult to grow, Trincadeira produces wines with bright raspberry flavours, herbal and spicy tones, while retaining its acidity.

ARAGONÊS: The local name for Tempranillo, also Tinta Roriz in northern Portugal. The varietal produces rich robust wines, more often blended rather than single-varietal. It thrives in both sandy and clay soils. Aragonês produces smooth, fruit-forward wines with undertones of spice.

Taste Campo do Tejo – the innovative new white wine range from Tejo

Campo do Tejo® is the exciting new white wine project from the Tejo wine region in Portugal. It is not just one wine. This is a collaborative venture between a group of the Region's grape-growers and wineries, collectively creating a range of wines based on Tejo's flagship native white grape variety, Fernão Pires. These very affordable wines offer a distinctively refreshing and vibrant style, feature lower-than-average alcohol levels, and are presented in a lighter weight bottle. The labels further highlight this community initiative, all featuring the location of each producer next to the Tejo River as it winds its way like liquid gold through the Region's vineyards.

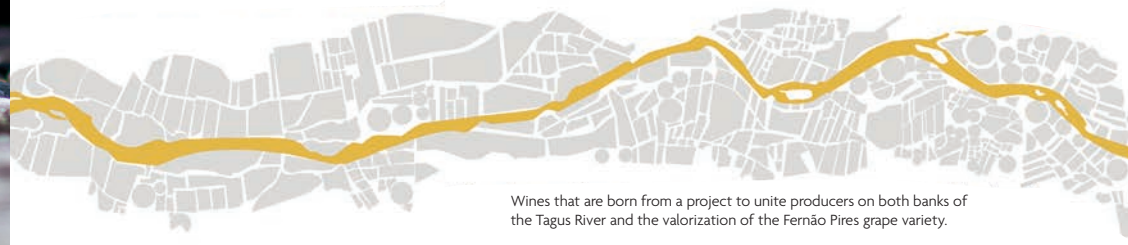

The growers making the new Campo do Tejo® wines are all from an innovative group of wineries located on Tejo's Campo terroir – hence the name – which covers the vineyard areas straddling the Tejo River, starting 50 kilometres upstream from Lisbon and extending on each side of the river through historic towns, cork forests, and olive groves.

The Tejo River bestows several benefits on Campo's vineyards – plentiful supplies of water, most of which is returned to the river from the vineyards and wineries, and a micro-climate of misty mornings, warm days and cooler nights providing an ideal climatic conditions and fertile alluvial soils in which the Region's emblematic and most widely planted white grape variety, Fernão Pires, flourishes. Fernão Pires naturally expresses enduring freshness, vibrancy and bright fruit flavours all characterised by light-to-medium weight and pleasing natural acidity.

A lighter style, lower alcohol, vegan friendly, affordable, versatile.
A unique community collaborative venture.
A strong sense of place, traceable provenance, and distinctive style.
A focus on sustainability and preservation of the natural environment.
By every measure, Campo do Tejo® is a wine for our times.

Dirceu Vianna Junior MW

Originally from Brazil, Dirceu moved to London in 1989 and became involved in the wine trade the following year.

Part of his extensive travels and studies have included completing the 'Master Napa Valley' programme in the United States, Diplome d'Honneur at l'Ecole D'Alsace and becoming a member of the Champagne Academy and winning the 'Golden Magnum Award' as Top Student. He later received L'Ordre des Coteaux de Champagne in recognition of work promoting and serving the Champagne Region.

In the pursuit of becoming a Master of Wine, he has travelled to most of the world's wine producing regions and has experience in working in New World and Old World wineries.

In September 2008 he obtained the qualification and title of 'Master of Wine' and was awarded the Top Student prize in the 'Business of Wine' section of the examination.

After contributing to the 'The Wine Opus' book, he co-wrote a book entitled 'Conheça Vinhos' ('Understanding Wine'), a wine publication in Portuguese that won the 'Gourmand World Cookbook Award' in Paris.

He has contributed to several publications around the world including Decanter, The Drinks Business, Adega (Brazil) and Grandes Escolhas (Portugal).

For most of his career he has been the Wine Director at some of the most important wine distributors in the UK. With three decades of experience in diverse sectors of the wine industry and extensive contacts he now consults for businesses around the world including Africa, South America and Europe.

He is a judge at international wine competitions, a technical advisor, commercial consultant and wine educator. He is a regular speaker at wine events around the world, as well as making television appearances and taking part in radio programmes.

	The Adega Cooperativa de Almeirim was established in 1958 in the city of Almeirim, in the region of what was then known as Ribatejo. Fifty years later the company is one of Portugal's biggest producers. With an area of over 2000 acres of vineyards the production capacity is about 24 million litres per year. The quality of our wines has always been our principal motivation. All the investments made in the latest technology for winemaking and bottling our wines have been done with the objective of keeping our standards and quality at the highest possible level. Having won several awards for our wines we believe that we are on the right track!

Producer	Adega do Cartaxo
	Founded in 1954, this winery has solid roots in the Tejo wine region where wine production has existed since the 10th century. With a strong network of more than 200 multi-generation family companies, Adega do Cartaxo, currently, has an area of 800 hectares of vineyards and annually produces around 10 million litres, with red wines representing around 80% of the production. Genuine, authentic, sophisticated and with a lot of freshness, the wines from Adega do Cartaxo meet the ambitions for which they were created: high quality with recognition from wine lovers and specialists who value the relationship between price and excellence. In 2022, 220 medals were awarded in national and international competitions, confirming the quality of its wines.
